

The Midwest's first ultra premium estate vodka, made from grapes of course!

Once only a humble idea, DiVine Vodka has finally come to fruition after intense market research, numerous recipe adjustments and endless hours of package and logo design.

Flowdesign of Detroit developed the entire image of this new vodka along with consulting on the stock bottle choice. We went with a clean white spray coating that fades to clear at the bottom of the bottle. This helped the grey and gold design pop off the bottle says Dan Matauch, Principle of Flowdesign.

DiVine Vodka is produced with grapes from the Round Barn estate and selected vineyards and is micro-distilled in a traditional European copper pot still found in our historic Amish round barn.
